AD SOUNDED GOOD

SUSIE M'LAUGHLIN ANSWERED IT AND WON A HUSBAND.

MARRIED MONDAY EVE

Young Woman at County Farm Went to St. Joseph as the Bride of Wm. F. Smith, Christian Preacher.

Susie McLaughlin, an inmate of the county infirmary, and William F. Smith of St. Joseph were united in marriage at 7 o'clock Monday evening at the infirmary by Squire J. W. Morris, in the presence of R. G. Brummitt, superintendent of the farm, and his family.

The courtship of this young woman, who can neither write nor read, and who has had no social opportunities whatever, and has known no other home than the county farm since she was about 10 years old, began only a few weeks ago, when she secured the services of the daughter of the superintendent of the farm to answer an advertisement she heard read from a St. Joseph newspaper, which stated that the writer of the advertisement would like to correspond with some lady between 25 and 30 years of age. The writer further said that his object was marriage and that he could provide a good home for the right woman.

There was something in the wording of this advertisement that sounded good to Susie's ears, and perhaps promises the fulfillment of some dream she may have had of a home that would be different from the home at the county farm. Anyway, the letter that was sent for her received a prompt response. The writer gave his name and requested the young woman to write and tell him all about herself.

His letter was answered at once at Susie's dictation. She told him the straight, simple truth; told him she was an inmate of the county farm and had been since she was 10 years old; that her mother had died there a few years ago and that she had a sister who had lived there after their father was killed, near Burlington Junction, but that the sister had secured a place in a home away from here and was not dependent on anyone.

The answer to this letter was prompt. The writer said that the fact that she was unfortunate and had to live at the county farm was no bar to his offer, and that he wished to continue the correspondence.

And the correspondence continued. The letters traveled between Maryville and St. Joseph regularly, and sometimes were frequently than usual from St. Joseph. Susie grew more interested each day, and the eagerness with which she watched for their coming was pathetic as well as amusing to her private secretary.

At last the writer of the advertisement came and was not displeased with the appearance of the woman with whom he had been corresponding. He also satisfied Susie. She told him that she had always had a "boss" and that she thought she would like him for her "boss" in the future. She told him she would do her best to please him in everything, and that if she did anything he did not like she wanted him to tell her right away and she would never do it again.

She said she wanted to learn to keep house; that there was only a few things she could do, but if he would be patient she thought she could learn to do all right.

As Mr. Smith had informed her as to his own fitness, and as he was satisfied with her, the two soon agreed that everything was all right and the 'Squire was sent for. Smith claims to be a Christian preacher, although he has no preaching appointment. He told Mr. Brummitt that he has a sawmill on a tract of land he owns near St. Joseph, and that is where they will make their home. He gave his age at 45.

Susie McLaughlin and her sister, Fannie, with their mother, went to the poor farm more than fifteen years ago from Burlington Junction. Mr. McLaughlin was killed in an accident, we learn. His wife was a consumptive and unable to support herself and her children and they were sent to the farm. A few years ago a home was found for Fannie in DeKalb county, where Susie has visited her. Their mother died several years ago. Susie had not been placed in school because she could not have proved a student.

SPECIAL SERVICE STARTS.

Presbyterian Church Had Opening Sermon Monday Night by Rev. Harkness.

Monday evening Rev. Samuel D. Harkness preached the opening sermon of a special service which will continue through this week and next at the Presbyterian church. The service Monday night and the service tonight are preparatory in nature for Dr. Samuel Dodds' Bible institute which opens Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock and Wednesday evening at 7:30. The afternoon lectures will be on the book of Acts, and the evening lectures will be on events in the life of Jesus, drawn largely, but not exclusively, from the Gospel of St. John. Dr. Dodds comes to us equipped with a large experience in college work. So effective was he as a teacher of the Bible that some of the leaders in the church prevailed upon him to give the rest of his life to the church at large. His work among the churches has been unusually successful. Rev. McGarragh of St. Louis wrote Rev. Harkness of him: "He is more like the Apostle John than any man I ever met."

The people of the Presbyterian church want to share this special service with the people of the city, for they feel that this man and his method will be very helpful. Mr. Harkness will preach tonight and his text will be, "Have ye received the Holy Ghost since ye believed?" The service will commence at 7:30.

HAD TO REMOVE STRIP OF SKULL.

Frank Manley Who Fell at New Postoffice Building Had Difficult Operation Performed.

Frank Manley, the workman on the new postoffice building, who fell from a fifteen-foot scaffold on Saturday, had a difficult operation performed on him by his physicians at St. Francis hospital. Manley's skull was badly crushed and he had a place as big as a man's hand flattened by the fall. A strip one inch by two inches was removed from his head, and another strip was raised. It will be necessary to put a plate in his head so as to prevent pressure on his brain.

While Manley is in a critical condition, his physicians are very hopeful of his recovery. His condition Tuesday was much better.

HAS COIN MADE IN 1807.

Mrs. C. H. John Has Coin That Beats the W. S. Linville Coin at Skidmore.

W. S. Linville of Skidmore will have to dig up again on an old coin, as Mrs. C. H. John of this city can go him one better. Mrs. John has a half dollar bearing date of 1807, while the Linville coin bears date of 1808. Mrs. John has had her coin twenty-eight years and prized it very much, as her father was born in the same year that the coin was made. On the John coin is thirteen stars representing the thirteen states at that time.

Case Was Settled.

A lawsuit of more than two years' duration, in which Samuel S. Shull, the St. Joseph attorney, and Samuel Crowley, a farmer, were involved and in which Crowley sued Shull to recover an alleged excessive fee, was settled in the circuit court at Oregon, Mo., late Saturday. The jury found for Crowley, awarding him a judgment of $2,291.62, with interest from Jan. 30, 1911, making a total of something more than $3,000. This is to be deducted from the amount originally retained by Shull as his fee—$12,000.

Went to Brother's Funeral.

Mr and Mrs. Ben King, living north of Maryville, were called to Albany Monday night by the death of Mr. King's brother, W. T. King of Albany, which occurred Monday forenoon. It was expected the funeral services would be held Tuesday afternoon. Mr. King had been in poor health for some time, but the immediate cause of his death was paralysis.

Granted a Divorce.

Judge Mayer of the Buchanan county circuit court granted a divorce in St. Joseph Monday to Robert McLarnon, who stated in his petition that his wife, Beulah, had deserted him. They were married in Nodaway county in 1910.

Is Patient at Hospital.

Mrs. Winfield Wood, living northwest of Maryville, who is a patient at St. Francis hospital, is doing nicely after the surgical operation she underwent.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Fite went to Kansas City Monday evening on account of the serious illness of Mr. Fite's sister, Mrs. Charles O'Connor.

WILL LEAD STATE

BRANCH SHORT COURSE AT MARYVILLE HAS BRIGHT PROSPECTS.

150 FREE SCHOLARSHIPS

Farmers Desiring to Enter Farm School Course Feb. 10 to 15, Should Write the Club Secretary.

The branch short course to be held in Maryville from February 10 to 15 promises to be a great affair. Every farmer in the county should attend this course. There remains 150 free tickets to the course, and all you have to do is to write John I. Hoffman, secretary of the Commercial club for one.

Prof. H. C. Allison of the department of animal husbandry of the state university, who will have charge of the Maryville course, writes as follows of the work of the short course for the Normal paper, The Fragmatist:

On February 10 to 15 the Missouri college of agriculture will hold a branch short course in agriculture at Maryville. These courses were organized by the University of Missouri in order to reach the farmers out in the state whose duties prevent their leaving home to take advantage of the various courses in agriculture which are offered annually at Columbia, the home of the university.

This is one of the many projects which have been undertaken by the college of agriculture during the past few years to reach the men who heretofore have had no chance to profit by the work and investigations of the college and experiment station. It is a part of the great scheme to offer an agricultural education to every farmer in the state.

Last winter branch short courses were held at nine different places. The total attendance was 645. Maryville furnished the largest enrollment of the whole number. This winter thirteen different communities are to receive the benefit of such a course. There will be one each week from the middle of March. At each place the college of agriculture furnishes two men representing two different lines of work. The course continues for five days, beginning Monday morning and closing Friday night. Each day there are two lectures and two demonstrations. Throughout the exercises farmers are urged to ask questions and offer suggestions. In this way the subject matter is adapted to the most pressing and immediate needs of the farmers who enroll for the work.

Since the number of branch short courses which the college of agriculture can give, with its purpose, is extremely limited, they can be located only where the local interest is sufficient to warrant a good attendance. In this way the college serves the greatest number at least expense. Before a branch short course is definitely assigned to any community it is required that a petition for such a course be filed with the college bearing the names of forty men who agree to pay into the local treasury the enrollment fee of $2.50 and to attend as regularly as possible all the lectures and demonstrations. This money is used to pay the expenses of the course, since the entire cost, except the salaries of the men, is borne by the local community. It is distinctly a farmers' course, patronized by farmers and supported by farmers. It is the closest approach the college of agriculture has ever made to bringing its teachings to the very hearthside of the farm home.

Speaking specifically of the Maryville branch short course, this promises again to lead the state in point of total attendance. Prof. H. C. Allison of the department of animal husbandry has been placed in direct charge of the course. He will be assisted by Prof. T. R. Douglas of the department of agronomy and two or three other men from the college as may be arranged later. Prof. Allison is now making arrangements with live stock men in the vicinity of Maryville to furnish classes of live stock for demonstration purposes. He is also making arrangements to bring a portion of the university state fair exhibit to Maryville as an aid in showing the results of investigations conducted by the college. The evening programs have not yet been arranged, but it is proposed to present some special features at these meetings which will combine instruction with entertainment.

NOW GOV. MAJOR

TOOK HIS OFFICE MONDAY—A SKETCH OF HIS LIFE.

QUIT TEACHING SCHOOL

To Enter Champ Clark's Office—When House Clerk, He Resolved to Be Governor.

In 1887, Elliott Woolfolk Major, now governor of Missouri, became principal of the public schools of Frankford, Pike county, at a salary of $50 a month, which he and his bride thought was a munificent wage. The young couple reached the conclusion they had reached the acme of success.

Prior to going to Frankford, young Major had taught in the public schools of Pike and Lincoln counties in winter and worked on farms in summer. From the money thus earned he saved enough to establish a home, when he and Miss Elizabeth Myers were married, June 14, 1887.

In the days he taught school, however, young Major was not overlooking the future, and he made plans for admission to the bar. When the day was done as a teacher, it began as a law student. The lamp was kept burning until late at night, and finally admission to practice law was gained.

Prior to the period in which he taught school, Major applied himself to such things as splitting rows in the corn field when his hands were not strong enough to hold the share for regular plowing.

Through sacrifices of his mother and through savings he was able to accumulate by working out when there was no immediate work on the homestead, Major was able to attend the Watson seminary, about seven miles from Bowling Green. In those days Watson seminary was considered the best educational institution in that part of Missouri. Major was unfortunate in that he was unable to finish the course of study, but he continued in the school for a sufficient period to receive advanced scholastic credit.

This was the basis of his professional preparations when he decided to give up school teaching, so he could move to Bowling Green. There he became associated with Champ Clark, now speaker of the national house of representatives, in the practice of law. Clark had become a power in Pike county, and shortly afterward ran for the legislature. He was elected in 1888, and in the ensuing January came to Jefferson City for his only term in the Missouri legislature.

Clark brought young Major with him. It was Major's first political position. While in Jefferson City as a clerk at $3.50 a day, which was considered a fabulous salary by the young lawyer, Major was struck with the desire to become governor of Missouri. During the session he saw Governor David R. Francis perform the duties of chief executive, and resolved that he also should return to Jefferson City in the same capacity. Francis gave the inspiration, but the political methods of success were patterned after Clark.

Young Major worked through the session and received a training which he applied to his practice upon his return to Bowling Green. For the next six years he planned and worked. At the expiration of that time, in 1896, he became a candidate for and was nominated as senator from the eleventh district.

Major applied himself to a study of the Missouri law and built up such a reputation that in the session of 1899, when revision of the statutes was the chief work of the legislature, he was made a member of the joint revision committee in charge of the work.

This knowledge of the Missouri law, which he picked up as a member of the revision committee, came in handy, several years later when Major became attorney general of the state, succeeding Hadley. Today he succeeded the same man as governor that he did four years ago as attorney general.

Four years after he retired from the state senate, with only one term to his credit, Major became a candidate for attorney general. He secured the nomination, but Hadley defeated him.

It did not discourage him, and in 1908, after the primary law had became operative, his strength and claims were sufficient to give him the nomination without a contest, thus becoming successor of the man who had made it so difficult for a man to follow him in office and make a success politically.

With the close of the Hadley administration as attorney general, Major realized that he must work to justify his candidacy four years afterward for governor. The supreme court of Missouri had just sustained the Hadley application for a writ ousting the Standard Oil company and its subsidiary concerns from doing business in the state. An appeal to the supreme court of the United States was assured, and while the Waters Pierce Oil company appeared before the supreme court of the state, paid the fine of $50,000 and reorganized, the Standard and Republic Oil companies fought out their contentions in the supreme court of the United States.

After a long period of litigation the supreme court of the United States rendered a decree which had been sought by Major, sustaining the state supreme court, and the two companies paid their fines of $50,000 each. Since that time the Standard has come into the state, and secured a temporary stay of execution of ouster pending a hearing of the plea to be permitted to continue in business on a promise of good behavior. This question is now before the supreme court.

Shortly after his term began, the railroad rate cases came up for argument. In a hearing at Kansas City before Judge McPherson, who ruled that the rates charged were excessive and prohibitory, the arguments were made by Governor Hadley, who had handled the preparations of the cases.

In the Standard Oil case the first interpretation of the Missouri anti-trust law was secured from the highest court in the country. The order of the court in that case was the standard on which Attorney General Major based his contentions in all subsequent cases where the statute was placed in question.

Another case cited as an indication of Major's success in the last four years is the Harvester suit, in which a conviction was secured, and in which the order of the court was a conditional ouster and the payment of a fine of $25,000.

Other cases handled by Major are those in which the stamp act was sustained, the application for and securing of evidence in quo warranto proceedings in the lumber case, and the quo warranto proceedings in the beef trust case.

The stamp act case was one which involved the legality of a 25-cent tax on options on grain futures. The case was fought out after the legislature had passed a bill providing for the tax, and the decision of the courts secured. State officials estimate that the revenue from this source alone will amount to from $300,000 to $400,000 a year.

Along with this case might be considered what is known as the test in the courts of the full weight bill, which originated in the courts at Kansas City. Deductions had been made of 100 pounds on each car of grain on the ground that the leakage amounted on the average to that much. Suit to test the law was instituted, and the courts upheld the power of the legislature to enact such a law on the showing made by the attorney general.

Hundreds of smaller matters occupied the attention of the attorney general and his assistants. There were opinions on legal questions of administration for the other departments of the government. In those four years there were briefed and argued in the courts more than 500 criminal cases, in addition to other suits in which the state was interested or was a party. This number is in addition to fifty-two cases which have been prepared for and argued in the supreme court of the United States, and work looking toward the securing of judgments in forty-five cases in the lower federal courts, including injunctions, writs of mandamus and original suits.

More dollars and better dollars back of an Equitable of Iowa policy than any policy issued by anyone any where.

Talked to Y. M. C. A.

Rev. C. J. Miller delivered his second talk Tuesday morning to the Y. M. C. A. at the Normal on "The Fundamentals in Religion."

The world would be better if neighbors in country villages would visit each other more and try to be just a little more agreeable and kindly interested in each other's affairs. Such visits help to banish household cares, and enable good ideas to go from life to life and home to home for the good of all.

Mrs. H. L. Hushin of Oregon, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. L. J. Lesh, left for her home Tuesday morning.

Called Here by Illness.

Mrs. Charles Martin and son of St. Joseph were called to Maryville Tuesday by the illness of Mrs. Nora Willets, who is very low of consumption at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Martin, on North Mulberry street.

A Girl's Wild Midnight Ride.

To warn people of a fearful forest fire in the Catskills a young girl rode horseback at midnight and saved many lives. Her deed was glorious but lives are often saved by Dr. King's New Discovery in curing lung trouble, coughs and colds, which might have ended in consumption or pneumonia. "It cured me of a dreadful cough and lung disease," writes W. R. Patterson, Wellington, Texas, "after four in our family had died with consumption, and I gained eighty-seven pounds." Nothing so sure and safe for all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by the Orear-Henry drug Co.—Advertisement.

"CASCARETS" FOR A SICK, SOUR STOMACH

Gently But Thoroughly Cleanse and Regulate Your Stomach, Liver and Bowels While You Sleep.

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of foulness, dizziness and sick headache, means a disordered stomach, which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

A marriage license was issued in St. Joseph Monday to Wm. F. Smith and Susie McLaughlin of Maryville.

REOPEN FIGHT ON HARD COAL TRUST

New Suit Attacking Minor Combinations Decided Upon.

M'REYNOLDS MAKES REPORT.

Entrusted With Immediate Preparation and Filing of Bill by Attorney General—Question Left Open in Recent Decision of Supreme Court.

Washington, Jan. 14.—Attorney General Wickersham, it is understood, has decided further to attack the so called hard coal trust in civil proceedings under the Sherman anti-trust law.

This was the result of a conference here between the attorney general and James C. McReynolds of New York, who was the government's counsel in the anthracite trust suit, decided by the supreme court a few weeks ago. The new suit, it is said, will be directed against the so called minor combinations of coal carrying railroads and coal companies in the Pennsylvania fields, charges against which were dismissed by the supreme court without prejudice in its recent decision, because they were held to have been improperly incorporated in the government's original general bill against the "trust."

It was learned on reliable authority that the attorney general had entrusted a further move to clear up the whole coal situation to Mr. McReynolds, who will be charged with the preparation of the bill and the conduct of the suit to be filed at an early date.

Consumers' Complaints Heeded.

By direction of the attorney general, Mr. McReynolds has been studying for several weeks the effect of the supreme court's decision upon conditions in the hard coal fields. He made his report and is said to have recommended pursuing the question which has been of absorbing interest to the department of justice, because of numerous complaints against the high prices of coal.

The minor combinations not passed on by the supreme court and left for future consideration and possible action were those alleged to have been created in 1898 by the absorption of the New York, Susquehanna and Western by the Erie; in 1901 by the acquisition by the Reading company which owned the Philadelphia and Reading railway and a coal company by a similar name; of the Central of New Jersey with its coal company; in 1899, by the acquisition by the Erie of the Pennsylvania Coal company which is said to have been projecting a new railroad, the Delaware Valley and Kingston.

OLEO INQUIRY TO PROCEED

Judge Landis Orders Grand Judy to Continue Investigation.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—Incensed at the report of an impending compromise of the charges affecting several of the largest Chicago manufacturers of oleo margarine, which have been before the federal grand jury for several weeks, Judge Landis gave supplemental instructions to the grand jury directing that the investigation be resumed at once regardless of what action is taken in Washington.

Internal Revenue Commissioner Cabell recommended to the house committee in Washington that a compromise of $102,000 be accepted in the cases against the companies in Chicago and elsewhere, alleging failure to pay the legal tax on the product aggregating more than $1,000,000.

Judge Landis is said to have criticised the efforts of the revenue department to "whitewash" those who have been under inquiry for the alleged defrauding of the government. The court is reported to have instructed the grand jury to prosecute to a finish.

Scare at Jefferson City.

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 14.—A near panic was caused by the dropping of a large patch of plastering from the ceiling in the house of representatives just before the inauguration of Governor Elliott W. Major. The crowd had packed into the hall until the local authorities were unable to preserve order, and, fearing an accident a detachment of police was called from St. Louis. The police cleared the hall of all visitors and only those holding tickets were permitted to re-enter. Inspection of the building showed there was no danger of a collapse, although the police were kept on duty to prevent overcrowding of any part of the structure.

Medical Student Raises Dollar Note

Chicago, Jan. 14.—Raising a dollar note to a hundred dollar bill to aid in carrying him through a medical college, led to the arrest of John Tasto, twenty-two years old. A crude counterfeiting outfit used in the raising of the bill was found in the young man's room. The prisoner came to Chicago two months ago from Clinton Ia.

Hawthorne Trial Postponed.

New York, Jan. 14.—The trial of Julian Hawthorne and others charged with using the mails to defraud in promoting mining stocks, was postponed until Jan. 20, on account of continued illness of Federal Judge Hough.

Mr. Saulsbury is a Democrat and was a member of Wilson's campaign cabinet. His election seems assured when the Delaware legislature begins its biennial session at Dover on Jan. 21, inasmuch as the Democrats will have a majority on joint ballot. If chosen he will succeed Senator H. A. Richardson, Republican.

POWERS CONTINUE WORK FOR PEACE

Advises Moderation on Balkan Allies and Turks.

London, Jan. 14.—Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary and the ambassadors of the powers are making valiant efforts to bring about a settlement between Turkey and the Balkan allies in the direction of peace. They have had additional interviews with Dr. Daneff and Rechad Pasha, head of the Bulgarian and Turkish delegates, respectively, advising moderation on both sides and warning them that either party, if through obstinacy it should plunge Europe into war again, would incur a heavy weight of disapproval.

The meeting of the ambassadors was the longest yet held. They discussed the note to be presented to the porte, passage by passage, aiming to meet every possible argument likely to be raised by the Turks.

The general impression among the plenipotentiaries is that the definite decision on war or peace must come from Constantinople. Whatever concessions and compromises the Balkan league may make, the allies will never consent to the renunciation of Adrianople, which the Turks make the sine qua non of peace.

MEXICAN REBELS DEFEATED

Eight Hundred of Them Repulsed by 600 Federal Troops.

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 14.—Casas Grandes was attacked unsuccessfully by the combined rebel forces, it was reported here officially. Eight hundred rebels hurled themselves against the federal fortifications, to be repulsed after a few hours' fighting by 600 federal regulars and volunteers, who occupied positions in the churches and other high buildings of the town. The rebels, possessing no artillery were mowed down by the federal machine guns. The official report places the rebel killed at forty and the federal loss at six killed and eleven wounded.

Previous to the attack on Casas Grandes, the rebels are given official credit for the rout near Madera of General Jose de la Luz Blanco's command and the capture and execution of De la Luz Blanco, an ex-insurrecto leader. It is stated in reliable reports that not only was Blanco executed but the rebels took prisoners fourteen officers and 140 soldiers, all of whom were shot. Blanco, while yet alive was hanged to a tree and riddled with bullets.

WILSON TALKS TO ELECTORS

Predicts No Division in Party Counsels—Says Nation is Progressive.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 14.—Governor Wilson, for whom the majority of the states in the union officially cast their electoral votes for the presidency, proclaimed in a speech to the New Jersey presidential electors that he interpreted his election as the distinct expression of the progressive impulses of the country.

"I shall not be acting as a partisan when I pick out progressives, and only progressives, to aid me," the governor said, in analyzing the spirit that he said had been produced by his election.

The governor predicted no division in the counsels of the Democratic party, but foresaw solidity. "Those Democrats," he said, "who hitherto have been slow to align themselves with the progressive banner of the party are everywhere yielding. The business men of the country, too, are swinging around to an unselfish and broader view of their duties to the people."

ARCHBALD IS SENTENCED

Judge Receives Full Penalty Allowed by Constitution.

BARRED FROM PUBLIC OFFICE

Guilty Upon Five Counts Is Senate's Verdict—First Vote Is Sixty-eight to Five—Insists That No Wrong Has Been Done by Him.

Washington, Jan. 14.—Robert W. Archbald of Scranton, Pa., for twenty-nine years an occupant of judicial positions upon the Pennsylvania state bench, the federal district bench and the United States commerce court, was adjudged guilty by the United States senate of "high crimes and misdemeanors," was stripped of his office and forever disqualified from holding positions of public honor or public trust.

The conviction and judgment came as the conclusion of the impeachment trial that has been pending in the senate since last summer on charges that Judge Archbald had been guilty of misconduct and misbehavior as a judge and that he had corruptly used his judicial power to further the private interests of himself and his friends in the acquisition of coal land properties in Pennsylvania.

Upon five of the thirteen charges brought against him by the house of representatives Judge Archbald was found guilty. Upon the other eight the senate voted him not guilty, the majority in some cases being against him, but failing of the two-thirds majority necessary for conviction. Any one of the five verdicts of guilty was enough to bring about the punishment imposed upon him.

The end of the long fought struggle in the senate came when the vote was taken on the first article of impeachment. With gallery doors locked to prevent the movement of spectators, an unaccustomed hush prevailed throughout the chamber, senators rose in their places as their names were called and pronounced the word "guilty" in almost inaudible tones. The vote on the first charge that Judge Archbald had corruptly influenced officials of the Erie railroad to sell him the Katydid culm dump at Scranton, resulted in his conviction, by a vote of 68 to 5.

Still Denies Wrongdoing.

In a little committee room off the gallery floor, behind a guarded door, Judge Archbald, his wife and his son, Hugh, sat as the senate voted upon the charges against him. The first vote of conviction was carried to him by his son from the gallery. After sentence had been imposed upon him, Judge Archbald and his family left the capitol, to go at once to the family home at Scranton.

"I have always known that I have done no wrong, and the vote of no one makes it otherwise," was his only comment upon the senate's action.

Sentence was imposed by Senator Bacon of Georgia, the presiding officer, after the senate had, by a vote of 39 to 35 upheld a resolution offered by Senator O'Gorman of New York authorizing the full penalty provided by the constitution.

"The senate therefore does order and decree," said Senator Bacon, "and it is hereby adjudged that the respondent, Robert W. Archbald, circuit judge for the United States for the Third judicial circuit, and designated to serve in the commerce court, be and he is hereby removed from office, and that he be and is hereby forever disqualified to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust or profit under the United States."

The sentence of the senate becomes operative at once, and directions were given that the president and the house of representatives be notified of the verdict and the punishment imposed.

Of the ten men who have been impeached before the senate since the organization of the government, Judge Archbald is the third to be convicted and the only one convicted who appeared to make a personal defense against the charges brought by the house of representatives.

Move to Impeach Idaho Judges.

Boise, Ida., Jan. 14.—Progressive members of the state legislature at a conference discussed the advisability of introducing a resolution providing for impeachment proceedings against the Idaho supreme court justices. The discussion was an outgrowth of the punishment for contempt of court of R. S. Sheridan, C. O. Broxon and A. R. Cruzen, who published Colonel Roosevelt's criticism of one of the court's decisions. No conclusion was reached.

Powers Agree on Note to Turkey.

London, Jan. 14.—The European powers will present their peace note to the Turkish government immediately. The final draft was agreed to unanimously at the meeting of the ambassadors.

Escaped Convict Is Taken.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—A. E. Ayres, one of the three convicts who escaped from the Joliet penitentiary last Saturday, was captured on the outskirts of the little village of Bercher, Ill.

Bay State Republicans Name Weeks.

NOAH BEILHARZ IN LOCAL LYCEUM

Has Given 2,500 Entertainments in Eleven Years.

The young man with the German name, that nearly everybody mispronounces, has had more than 11 years' experience in the platform and has given over 2,500 entertainments in the United States and Canada. Such experience means much. He knows how, by experience, to please any audience, whether giving an entire play or a program of miscellaneous selections. He uses wigs and make-up and is an artist of first rank.

Mr. Beilharz is especially adapted, temperamentally, to give the great David Warfield play, "The Music Master." No actor, though aided by scenery and other actors, displays more histrionic ability, and never has the story had a more fitting presentation than when given by Mr. Beilharz. It is to be hoped that he will give this play when he appears here, but he always presents the kind of a program the community prefers.

NOAH BEILHARZ
And Some of His Characters.

This season Mr. Beilharz will appear in nearly every state in the Union. He will tour as far west as Washington and Oregon, and as far east as Maine, as far south as Florida and as far north as Wisconsin.

BREAKS A COLD IN A FEW HOURS—PAPE'S.

First Dose of Pape's Cold Compound Relieves All Grippe Misery—Contains No Quinine.

After the very first dose of "Pape's Cold Compound" you distinctly feel the cold breaking and all the disagreeable grippe symptoms leaving.

It is a positive fact that a dose of Pape's Cold Compound taken every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken will cure Grippe or break up the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach or limbs.

It promptly ends the most miserable headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Take this wonderful Compound with the knowledge that there is nothing else in the world which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist can supply—it contains no quinine—be sure you get what you ask for—accept no substitute—belongs in every home. Tastes nice—acts gently.—Advertisement.

THOUSANDS ARE HOMELESS

Churches Opened to Flood Refugees in Ohio and Kentucky.

Cincinnati, Jan. 13.—The Ohio river passed the sixty-foot stage here and continued to rise steadily at the rate of two inches an hour. In the lower parts of the city and in Dayton, Newport and Covington, suburbs across the river in Kentucky, 2,500 persons have been made homeless by the invading water. In the Kentucky towns, school houses and churches have been thrown open and are filled with refugees.

Cincinnati commission merchants whose places of business are along the river front have suffered heavy losses. The Panhandle and the Louisville and Nashville railroad freight houses are half submerged.

TRADE WITH SOUTH AMERICA

Remarkable Growth of the Business in Last Ten Years.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Exports from the United States to South America have grown from $38,000,000 in 1902 to approximately $138,000,000 in 1912. The percentage of gain in the exports to South America is much greater than that in exports to any other grand division of the world.

Turning to the other side of the account, the imports from South America show a gain in the period in question of a little more than 100 per cent, the figures having been in 1902 $109,000,000 and in 1912 approximately $239,000,000.

Manufactures form the bulk of this rapidly growing export trade with South America.

This Week in Congress.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Problems of the approaching Democratic administration will hang over congress again this week. Tariff, currency and anti-trust legislation, characterized by President elect Wilson as among the most important subjects that will come before him, are to be the center of hearings and investigations by house committees throughout the week and will divide attention with the Democratic-Republican fight in the senate over President Taft's appointments, over 1,300 of which are awaiting confirmation.

HOUSE HITS CIVIL SERVICE

Committee of Whole Favors Annuling Taft's Postmaster Order.

REPUBLICANS DECLINE TO VOTE

Fight Will Result When Amendment to Postoffice Bill Is Reported for Debate and Final Disposition—Clash Over Anti-Liquor Act.

Washingtoon, Jan. 14.—An amendment to the postoffice appropriation bill to annul executive orders placing assistant postmasters in first class offices and all fourth class postmasters under the classified service was adopted by the house, sitting as a committee of the whole. The vote was 49 to 18, all Republicans refraining from voting and many Democrats absenting themselves from the chamber. Republican leaders had quietly cautioned the members on their side to let the Democrats settle the matter among themselves.

This amendment will be a storm center when the appropriation bill is reported to the house from the committee of the whole, probably today. Many Democrats oppose it, but Representatives Cullop of Indiana, who offered the amendment, and others denounce President Taft's executive ordres as partisan actions to perpetuate in office Republicans appointed under the "spoils system."

Another amendment offered in the committee occasioned a lively discussion. Representative Jackson of Kansas (Rep.) was the author and the amendment proposed to bar from the mail in "dry" territory letters, pamphlets, newspapers and periodicals carrying liquor advertisements, and to bar all such matter advertising for sale stocks or bonds of corporations unless passed upon by the postmaster general. The amendment was lost, 33 to 57, after a debate led by Representatives Jackson and Hobson supporting the measure, and Representative Moon of Tennessee, chairman of the committee, opposing it.

HOUSE TARIFF PROGRAM

Free Lumber and Meats, With High Tariff on Silks.

Washington, Jan. 14.—Free rough and dressed lumber, hewn and squared timber, shingles, laths and fence posts, retention of approximately the present high tariff on the higher grades of silks and reductions in the cheaper silks used by the common people and a penalizing, drastic tariff bar to shut out "dynamited" silk, were indicated as parts of the expected Democratic revision program.

The house committee on ways and means devoted the day to hearings on the wool and silk schedules of the tariff law and when the testimony and examinations were closed the sentiment favored the inclusion of these provisions, possibly together with free meats, in the tentative tariff plan the committee will frame to submit to the extra session of congress.

The burden of the testimony on the wool schedule was a plea for the preservation of the present tariff rates.

Silk, involving immense interests presented a complexity of technicalities perhaps greater than in any of the other thirteen schedules of the tariff law. Silks, according to Horace B. Cheney of South Manchester, Conn. as spokesman of the silk manufacturers of the country, depend on fashion "If women want anything they'll pay the amount they have to get it."

Kills Wife and Self at Dinner Table

San Francisco, Jan. 14.—Donald Jadwin, son of a wealthy Brooklyn family shot and killed his wife, Minna Van Bergen Jalwin, known in society here as she sat at dinner with other members of the family. He then shot and fatally wounded himself, dying two hours later.

SHE GAVE UP ALL HOPE

Physicians Failed To Help Mrs. Green, But She Finally Found Relief in Cardui.

Meetze, Va.—Mrs. J. C. Green of this place, says: "I suffered with womanly troubles so that I could hardly sit up. Two of the best doctors in our town treated me, and I tried different medicines, until I gave up all hope of ever getting well.

One day, I decided to try some Cardui. It did so much for me that I ordered some more, and it cured me! Today, I feel as well as I ever did in my life.

The pains and the trouble are all gone. I feel like another person in every way. I wish every sufferer could know what Cardui will do for sick women."

A few doses of Cardui at the right time, will save many a big doctor bill, by preventing serious sickness.

It tones up the nervous system, and helps make pale cheeks fresh and rosy.

Thousands of weak women have been restored to health and happiness by using Cardui. Suppose you try it.

It may be just the medicine you need.

AD SOUNDED GOOD

SUSIE M'LAUGHLIN ANSWERED IT AND WON A HUSBAND.

MARRIED MONDAY EVE

Susie McLaughlin, an inmate of the county infirmary, and William F. Smith of St. Joseph were united in marriage at 7 o'clock Monday evening at the infirmary by 'Squire J. W. Morris, in the presence of R. G. Brummitt, superintendent of the farm, and his family.

The courtship of this young woman, who can neither write nor read, and who has had no social opportunities whatever, and has known no other home than the county farm since she was about 10 years old, began only a few weeks ago, when she secured the services of the daughter of the superintendent of the farm to answer an advertisement she heard read from a St. Joseph newspaper, which stated that the writer of the advertisement would like to correspond with some lady between 25 and 30 years of age. The writer further said that his object was marriage and that he could provide a good home for the right woman.

There was something in the wording of this advertisement that sounded good to Susie's ears, and perhaps promises the fulfillment of some dream she may have had of a home that would be different from the home at the county farm. Anyway, the letter that was sent for her received a prompt response. The writer gave his name and requested the young woman to write and tell him all about herself.

His letter was answered at once at Susie's dictation. She told him the straight, simple truth; told him she was an inmate of the county farm and had been since she was 10 years old; that her mother had died there a few years ago and that she had a sister who had lived there after their father was killed, near Burlington Junction, but that the sister had secured a place in a home away from here and was not dependent on anyone.

The answer to this letter was prompt. The writer said that the fact that she was unfortunate and had to live at the county farm was no bar to his offer, and that he wished to continue the correspondence.

And the correspondence continued. The letters traveled between Maryville and St. Joseph regularly, and sometimes were frequently than usual from St. Joseph. Susie grew more interested each day, and the eagerness with which she watched for their coming was pathetic as well as amusing to her private secretary.

At last the writer of the advertisement came and was not displeased with the appearance of the woman with whom he had been corresponding. He also satisfied Susie. She told him that she had always had a "boss" and that she thought she would like him for her "boss" in the future. She told him she would do her best to please him in everything, and that if she did anything he did not like she wanted him to tell her right away and she would never do it again.

She said she wanted to learn to keep house; that there was only a few things she could do, but if he would be patient she thought she could learn to do all right.

As Mr. Smith had informed her as to his own fitness, and as he was satisfied with her, the two soon agreed that everything was all right and the 'Squire was sent for. Smith claims to be a Christian preacher, although he has no preaching appointment. He told Mr. Brummitt that he has a sawmill on a tract of land he owns near St. Joseph, and that is where they will make their home. He gave his age at 45.

Susie McLaughlin and her sister, Fannie, with their mother, went to the poor farm more than fifteen years ago from Burlington Junction. Mr. McLaughlin was killed in an accident, we learn. His wife was a consumptive and unable to support herself and her children and they were sent to the farm. A few years ago a home was found for Fannie in DeKalb county, where Susie has visited her. Their mother died several years ago. Susie had not been placed in school because she could not have proved a student.

SPECIAL SERVICE STARTS.

Presbyterian Church Had Opening Sermon Monday Night by Rev. Harkness.

Monday evening Rev. Samuel D. Harkness preached the opening sermon of a special service which will continue through this week and next at the Presbyterian church. The service Monday night and the service tonight are preparatory in nature for Dr. Samuel Dodds' Bible institute which opens Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock and Wednesday evening at 7:30. The afternoon lectures will be on the book of Acts, and the evening lectures will be on events in the life of Jesus, drawn largely, but not exclusively, from the Gospel of St. John. Dr. Dodds comes to us equipped with a large experience in college work. So effective was he as a teacher of the Bible that some of the leaders in the church prevailed upon him to give the rest of his life to the church at large. His work among the churches has been unusually successful. Rev. McGarragh of St. Louis wrote Rev. Harkness of him: "He is more like the Apostle John than any man I ever met."

The people of the Presbyterian church want to share this special service with the people of the city, for they feel that this man and his method will be very helpful. Mr. Harkness will preach tonight and his text will be, "Have ye received the Holy Ghost since ye believed?" The service will commence at 7:30.

HAD TO REMOVE STRIP OF SKULL.

Frank Manley Who Fell at New Postoffice Building Had Difficult Operation Performed.

Frank Manley, the workman on the new postoffice building, who fell from a fifteen-foot scaffold on Saturday, had a difficult operation performed on him by his physicians at St. Francis hospital. Manley's skull was badly crushed and he had a place as big as a man's hand flattened by the fall. A strip one inch by two inches was removed from his head, and another strip was raised. It will be necessary to put a plate in his head so as to prevent pressure on his brain.

While Manley is in a critical condition, his physicians are very hopeful of his recovery. His condition Tuesday was much better.

HAS COIN MADE IN 1807.

Mrs. C. H. John Has Coin That Beats the W. S. Linville Coin at Skidmore.

W. S. Linville of Skidmore will have to dig up again on an old coin, as Mrs. C. H. John of this city can go him one better. Mrs. John has a half dollar bearing date of 1807, while the Linville coin bears date of 1808. Mrs. John has had her coin twenty-eight years and prized it very much, as her father was born in the same year that the coin was made. On the John coin is thirteen stars representing the thirteen states at that time.

Case Was Settled.

A lawsuit of more than two years' duration, in which Samuel S. Shull, the St. Joseph attorney, and Samuel Crowley, a farmer, were involved and in which Crowley sued Shull to recover an alleged excessive fee, was settled in the circuit court at Oregon, Mo., late Saturday. The jury found for Crowley, awarding him a judgment of $2,291.62, with interest from Jan. 30, 1911, making a total of something more than $3,000. This is to be deducted from the amount originally retained by Shull as his fee—$12,000.

Went to Brother's Funeral.

Mr and Mrs. Ben King, living north of Maryville, were called to Albany Monday night by the death of Mr. King's brother, W. T. King of Albany, which occurred Monday forenoon. It was expected the funeral services would be held Tuesday afternoon. Mr. King had been in poor health for some time, but the immediate cause of his death was paralysis.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Fite went to Kansas City Monday evening on account of the serious illness of Mr. Fite's sister, Mrs. Charles O'Connor.

WILL LEAD STATE

BRANCH SHORT COURSE AT MARYVILLE HAS BRIGHT PROSPECTS.

Farmers Desiring to Enter Farm School Course Feb. 10 to 15, Should Write the Club Secretary.

The branch short course to be held in Maryville from February 10 to 15 promises to be a great affair. Every farmer in the county should attend this course. There remains 150 free tickets to the course, and all you have to do is to write John I. Hoffman, secretary of the Commercial club for one.

Prof. H. C. Allison of the department of animal husbandry of the state university, who will have charge of the Maryville course, writes as follows of the work of the short course for the Normal paper, The Fragmatist:

On February 10 to 15 the Missouri college of agriculture will hold a branch short course in agriculture at Maryville. These courses were organized by the University of Missouri in order to reach the farmers out in the state whose duties prevent their leaving home to take advantage of the various courses in agriculture which are offered annually at Columbia, the home of the university.

This is one of the many projects which have been undertaken by the college of agriculture during the past few years to reach the men who heretofore have had no chance to profit by the work and investigations of the college and experiment station. It is a part of the great scheme to offer an agricultural education to every farmer in the state.

Last winter branch short courses were held at nine different places. The total attendance was 645. Maryville furnished the largest enrollment of the whole number. This winter thirteen different communities are to receive the benefit of such a course. There will be one each week from the middle of March. At each place the college of agriculture furnishes two men representing two different lines of work. The course continues for five days, beginning Monday morning and closing Friday night. Each day there are two lectures and two demonstrations. Throughout the exercises farmers are urged to ask questions and offer suggestions. In this way the subject matter is adapted to the most pressing and immediate needs of the farmers who enroll for the work.

Since the number of branch short courses which the college of agriculture can give, with its purpose, is extremely limited, they can be located only where the local interest is sufficient to warrant a good attendance. In this way the college serves the greatest number at least expense. Before a branch short course is definitely assigned to any community it is required that a petition for such a course be filed with the college bearing the names of forty men who agree to pay into the local treasury the enrollment fee of $2.50 and to attend as regularly as possible all the lectures and demonstrations. This money is used to pay the expenses of the course, since the entire cost, except the salaries of the men, is borne by the local community. It is distinctly a farmers' course, patronized by farmers and supported by farmers. It is the closest approach the college of agriculture has ever made to bringing its teachings to the very hearthside of the farm home.

Speaking specifically of the Maryville branch short course, this promises again to lead the state in point of total attendance. Prof. H. C. Allison of the department of animal husbandry has been placed in direct charge of the course. He will be assisted by Prof. T. R. Douglas of the department of agronomy and two or three other men from the college as may be arranged later. Prof. Allison is now making arrangements with live stock men in the vicinity of Maryville to furnish classes of live stock for demonstration purposes. He is also making arrangements to bring a portion of the university state fair exhibit to Maryville as an aid in showing the results of investigations conducted by the college. The evening programs have not yet been arranged, but it is proposed to present some special features at these meetings which will combine instruction with entertainment.

TOOK HIS OFFICE MONDAY—A SKETCH OF HIS LIFE.

QUIT TEACHING SCHOOL

To Enter Champ Clark's Office—When House Clerk, He Resolved to Be Governor.

In 1887, Elliott Woolfolk Major, now governor of Missouri, became principal of the public schools of Frankford, Pike county, at a salary of $50 a month, which he and his bride thought was a munificent wage. The young couple reached the conclusion they had reached the acme of success.

Prior to going to Frankford, young Major had taught in the public schools of Pike and Lincoln counties in winter and worked on farms in summer. From the money thus earned he saved enough to establish a home, when he and Miss Elizabeth Myers were married, June 14, 1887.

In the days he taught school, however, young Major was not overlooking the future, and he made plans for admission to the bar. When the day was done as a teacher, it began as a law student. The lamp was kept burning until late at night, and finally admission to practice law was gained.

Prior to the period in which he taught school, Major applied himself to such things as splitting rows in the corn field when his hands were not strong enough to hold the share for regular plowing.

Through sacrifices of his mother and through savings he was able to accumulate by working out when there was no immediate work on the homestead, Major was able to attend the Watson seminary, about seven miles from Bowling Green. In those days Watson seminary was considered the best educational institution in that part of Missouri. Major was unfortunate in that he was unable to finish the course of study, but he continued in the school for a sufficient period to receive advanced scholastic credit.

This was the basis of his professional preparations when he decided to give up school teaching, so he could move to Bowling Green. There he became associated with Champ Clark, now speaker of the national house of representatives, in the practice of law. Clark had become a power in Pike county, and shortly afterward ran for the legislature. He was elected in 1888, and in the ensuing January came to Jefferson City for his only term in the Missouri legislature.

Clark brought young Major with him. It was Major's first political position. While in Jefferson City as a clerk at $3.50 a day, which was considered a fabulous salary by the young lawyer, Major was struck with the desire to become governor of Missouri. During the session he saw Governor David R. Francis perform the duties of chief executive, and resolved that he also should return to Jefferson City in the same capacity. Francis gave the inspiration, but the political methods of success were patterned after Clark.

Young Major worked through the session and received a training which he applied to his practice upon his return to Bowling Green. For the next six years he planned and worked. At the expiration of that time, in 1896, he became a candidate for and was nominated as senator from the eleventh district.

Major applied himself to a study of the Missouri law and built up such a reputation that in the session of 1899, when revision of the statutes was the chief work of the legislature, he was

DEATH NEAR BARNARD.

Mrs. Malinda Gray Died at the Home of Her Brother, W. B. McBride.

Mrs. Malinda J. Gray died Monday evening at the home of her brother, Wm. B. McBride, near Barnard. The funeral services will be held at the Church of Christ in Barnard Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock, conducted by Elder Cobb of Bedford, Ia. Burial service will take place in the Centenary cemetery, twelve miles southwest of Barnard.

Mrs. Gray, who lived on her farm, nine miles northwest of Barnard, had been in poor health for a year past from a complication of diseases. A month ago she went to the home of her brother to remain for the winter, leaving her farm in care of her cousin, Jacob Gray. She grew gradually worse until her death Monday. Mrs. Gray would have been 58 years old January 21. She came to Nodaway county with her husband twenty-one years ago from Orange county, Indiana. Her husband's death occurred thirteen years ago December last. They have no children.

Mrs. Gray is survived by her aged mother, Mrs. Elizabeth McBride of Paoli, Ind., and three sisters, Mrs. Melissa Williams, Mrs. Martha Gibbons and Mrs. Florence Hammond, who also lived at Paoli, and one brother, W. B. McBride of Barnard.

SUES ON NOTE DATED 1893.

Original Note Was for $333.33 and Now Amounts to $1,370.67.

A suit was filed Tuesday in Circuit Clerk Rathbun's office by Cook, Cummins & Dawson for Robert L. and Charles H. Rice, executors of the estate of James M. Rice against Enos B. and Elizabeth Sheldon. According to the petition the late James M. Rice had the promissory note of the defendants for $333.33, dated September 9, 1893, and on September 8, 1903, $1 was paid by the defendants. The suit is for $1,370.67.

MEDICAL SOCIETY MET.

Held Business Meeting and Installation of Officers—Dinner at Hotel.

The County Medical society met Tuesday afternoon at the Elks club for their annual business meeting, and also to install officers. The officers installed were Dr. Wm. Wallis, Jr., president; Dr. F. M. Ryan, vice president; Dr. C. T. Bell, secretary. Before the meeting this afternoon a dinner was had by the society at the Linville.

Funeral Services Wednesday.

The funeral services for Mrs. Iver Lattimer, who died Sunday night at her home, four miles northwest of Pickering, will be held Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Christian church in Pickering and will be conducted by Rev. W. A. Chapman of Rosendale. Burial in White Oak cemetery. Mrs. Lattimer was a daughter of the late Lafayette Greenlee, who lived in the Happy Hollow district, near Pickering. Governor Major's Recommendations in Inaugural Speech.

Home rule for cities.

Amendment of primary law to enable cities to select their party nominees at a primary; to give people an opportunity to express their preference for presidential candidates, and to provide for the election of United States senators by a direct vote of the people.

Law to prevent printing, distribution or circulation of copy or fac simile of any primary ticket, to the end that combinations and slate making may be stopped.

Amend laws against pools, trusts and conspiracies so as to effectively reach and criminally punish individuals, who, from without the state, manage and control the affairs and transactions of concerns doing business within the state in violation of the anti-trust law.

Re-enact law increasing present tax of 1¼ per cent paid by express companies.

Revise revenue laws to secure the assessment of millions of dollars of personal property now escaping taxation.

Create tax commission to study questions of taxation and report its labors to the next legislature.

Reform in court procedure.

Board of pardons, consisting of three members, to make recommendations to the governor.

Educational commission, consisting of three to five members, appointed by the governor, to serve without pay.

Adequate system of rural high schools and ample appropriations for university, school of mines and state normals.

State highway and county highway department to direct good roads work.

Law creating office of immigration commissioner to advertise resources and advantages of state.

Special department to supervise reclamation of 4,000,000 acres of swamp and overflow land.

Create office known as medical supervisor for the hospitals for the insane.

Create public service commission with adequate powers to fix and regulate freight and passenger rates, express rates, telegraph and telephone rates, the charges of electric light, gas, water and power companies, and to supervise the issuance of stocks, and bonds and other evidences of indebtedness.

Enact a workingmen's compensation law.

Appoint committee to investigate the policy and labors of the insurance department and report back to the legislature.

Economy in expenditures.

made a member of the joint revision committee in charge of the work.

This knowledge of the Missouri law, which he picked up as a member of the revision committee, came in handy several years later when Major became attorney general of the state, succeeding Hadley. Today he succeeded the same man as governor that he did four years ago as attorney general.

Four years after he retired from the state senate, with only one term to his credit, Major became a candidate for attorney general. He secured the nomination, but Hadley defeated him.

It did not discourage him, and in 1908, after the primary law had became operative, his strength and claims were sufficient to give him the nomination without a contest, thus becoming successor of the man who had made it so difficult for a man to follow him in office and make a success politically.

With the close of the Hadley administration as attorney general, Major realized that he must work to justify his candidacy four years afterward for governor. The supreme court of Missouri had just sustained the Hadley application for a writ ousting the Standard Oil company and its subsidiary concerns from doing business in the state. An appeal to the supreme court of the United States was assured, and while the Waters Pierce Oil company appeared before the supreme court of the state, paid the fine of $50,000 and reorganized, the Standard and Republic Oil companies fought out their contentions in the supreme court of the United States.

After a long period of litigation the supreme court of the United States rendered a decree which had been sought by Major, sustaining the state supreme court, and the two companies paid their fines of $50,000 each. Since that time the Standard has come into the state, and secured a temporary stay of execution of ouster pending a hearing of the plea to be permitted to continue in business on a promise of good behavior. This question is now before the supreme court.

Shortly after his term began, the railroad rate cases came up for argument. In a hearing at Kansas City before Judge McPherson, who ruled that the rates charged were excessive and prohibitory, the arguments were made by Governor Hadley, who had handled the preparations of the cases.

In the Standard Oil case the first interpretation of the Missouri anti-trust law was secured from the highest court in the country. The order of the court in that case was the standard on which Attorney General Major based his contentions in all subsequent cases where the statute was placed in question.

Another case cited as an indication of Major's success in the last four years is the Harvester suit, in which a conviction was secured, and in which the order of the court was a conditional ouster and the payment of a fine of $25,000.

Other cases handled by Major are those in which the stamp act was sustained, the application for and securing of evidence in quo warranto proceedings in the lumber case, and the quo warranto proceedings in the beef trust case.

The stamp act case was one which involved the legality of a 25-cent tax on options on grain futures. The case was fought out after the legislature had passed a bill providing for the tax, and the decision of the courts secured. State officials estimate that the revenue from this source alone will amount to from $300,000 to $400,000 a year.

Along with this case might be considered what is known as the test in the courts of the full weight bill, which originated in the courts at Kansas City. Deductions had been made of 100 pounds on each car of grain on the ground that the leakage amounted on the average to that much. Suit to test the law was instituted, and the courts upheld the power of the legislature to enact such a law on the showing made by the attorney general.

Hundreds of smaller matters occupied the attention of the attorney general and his assistants. There were opinions on legal questions of administration for the other departments of the government. In those four years there were briefed and argued in the courts more than 500 criminal cases, in addition to other suits in which the state was interested or was a party. This number is in addition to fifty-two cases which have been prepared for and argued in the supreme court of the United States, and work looking toward the securing of judgments in forty-five cases in the lower federal courts, including injunctions, writs of mandamus and original suits.

"CASCARETS" FOR A SICK, SOUR STOMACH

Gently But Thoroughly Cleanse and Regulate Your Stomach, Liver and Bowels While You Sleep.

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of foulness, dizziness and sick headache, means a disordered stomach, which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

A marriage license was issued in St. Joseph Monday to Wm. F. Smith and Susie McLaughlin of Maryville.

REOPEN FIGHT ON HARD COAL TRUST

New Suit Attacking Minor Combinations Decided Upon.

M'REYNOLDS MAKES REPORT.

Entrusted With Immediate Preparation and Filing of Bill by Attorney General—Question Left Open in Recent Decision of Supreme Court.

Washington, Jan. 14.—Attorney General Wickersham, it is understood, has decided further to attack the so called hard coal trust in civil proceedings under the Sherman anti-trust law.

This was the result of a conference here between the attorney general and James C. McReynolds of New York, who was the government's counsel in the anthracite trust suit, decided by the supreme court a few weeks ago. The new suit, it is said, will be directed against the so called minor combinations of coal carrying rail roads and coal companies in the Pennsylvania fields, charges against which were dismissed by the supreme court without prejudice in its recent decision, because they were held to have been improperly incorporated in the government's original general bill against the "trust."

It was learned on reliable authority that the attorney general had entrusted a further move to clear up the whole coal situation to Mr. McReynolds, who will be charged with the preparation of the bill and the conduct of the suit to be filed at an early date.

Consumers' Complaints Heeded.

By direction of the attorney general, Mr. McReynolds has been studying for several weeks the effect of the supreme court's decision upon conditions in the hard coal fields. He made his report and is said to have recommended pursuing the question which has been of absorbing interest to the department of justice, because of numerous complaints against the high prices of coal.

The minor combinations not passed on by the supreme court and left for future consideration and possible action were those alleged to have been created in 1898 by the absorption of the New York, Susquehanna and Western by the Erie; in 1901 by the acquisition by the Reading company which owned the Philadelphia and Reading railway and a coal company by a similar name; of the Central of New Jersey with its coal company; in 1899, by the acquisition by the Erie of the Pennsylvania Coal company which is said to have been projecting a new railroad, the Delaware Valley and Kingston.

OLEO INQUIRY TO PROCEED

Judge Landis Orders Grand Judy to Continue Investigation.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—Incensed at the report of an impending compromise of the charges affecting several of the largest Chicago manufacturers of oleomargarine, which have been before the federal grand jury for several weeks, Judge Landis gave supplemental instructions to the grand jury directing that the investigation be resumed at once regardless of what action is taken in Washington.

Internal Revenue Commissioner Cabell recommended to the house committee in Washington that a compromise of $102,000 be accepted in the cases against the companies in Chicago and elsewhere, alleging failure to pay the legal tax on the product aggregating more than $1,000,000.

Judge Landis is said to have criticised the efforts of the revenue department to "whitewash" those who have been under inquiry for the alleged defrauding of the government. The court is reported to have instructed the grand jury to prosecute to a finish.

Scare at Jefferson City.

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 14.—A near panic was caused by the dropping of a large patch of plastering from the ceiling in the house of representatives just before the inauguration of Governor Elliott W. Major. The crowd had packed into the hall until the local authorities were unable to preserve order, and, fearing an accident, a detachment of police was called from St. Louis. The police cleared the hall of all visitors and only those holding tickets were permitted to re-enter. Inspection of the building showed there was no danger of a collapse, although the police were kept on duty to prevent overcrowding of any part of the structure.

Medical Student Raises Dollar Note

Chicago, Jan. 14.—Raising a dollar note to a hundred dollar bill to aid in carrying him through a medical college, led to the arrest of John Tasto, twenty-two years old. A crude counterfeiting outfit used in the raising of the bill was found in the young man's room. The prisoner came to Chicago two months ago from Clinton, Ia.

Hawthorne Trial Postponed.

New York, Jan. 14.—The trial of Julian Hawthorne and others charged with using the mails to defraud in promoting mining stocks, was postponed until Jan. 20, on account of continued illness of Federal Judge Hough.

If chosen he will succeed Senator H. A. Richardson, Republican.

Advises Moderation on Balkan Allies and Turks.

London, Jan. 14.—Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary and the ambassadors of the powers are making valiant efforts to bring about a settlement between Turkey and the Balkan allies in the direction of peace. They have had additional interviews with Dr. Daneff and Rechad Pasha, head of the Bulgarian and Turkish delegates, respectively, advising moderation on both sides and warning them that either party, if through obstinacy it should plunge Europe into war again, would incur a heavy weight of disapproval.

The meeting of the ambassadors was the longest yet held. They discussed the note to be presented to the porte, passage by passage, aiming to meet every possible argument likely to be raised by the Turks.

The general impression among the plenipotentiaries is that the definite decision on war or peace must come from Constantinople. Whatever concessions and compromises the Balkan league may make, the allies will never consent to the renunciation of Adrianople, which the Turks make the sine qua non of peace.

MEXICAN REBELS DEFEATED

Eight Hundred of Them Repulsed by 600 Federal Troops.

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 14.—Casas Grandes was attacked unsuccessfully by the combined rebel forces, it was reported here officially. Eight hundred rebels hurled themselves against the federal fortifications, to be repulsed after a few hours' fighting by 600 federal regulars and volunteers who occupied positions in the churches and other high buildings of the town. The rebels, possessing no artillery, were mowed down by the federal machine guns. The official report places the rebel killed at forty and the federal loss at six killed and eleven wounded.

Previous to the attack on Casas Grandes, the rebels are given official credit for the rout near Madera of General Jose de la Luz Blanco's command and the capture and execution of De la Luz Blanco, an ex-insurrecto leader. It is stated in reliable reports that not only was Blanco executed but the rebels took prisoners fourteen officers and 140 soldiers, all of whom were shot. Blanco, while yet alive, was hanged to a tree and riddled with bullets.

WILSON TALKS TO ELECTORS

Predicts No Division in Party Counsels—Says Nation is Progressive.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 14.—Governor Wilson, for whom the majority of the states in the union officially cast their electoral votes for the presidency, proclaimed in a speech to the New Jersey presidential electors that he interpreted his election as the distinct expression of the progressive impulses of the country.

"I shall not be acting as a partisan when I pick out progressives, and only progressives, to aid me," the governor said, in analyzing the spirit that he said had been produced by his election.

The governor predicted no division in the counsels of the Democratic party, but foresaw solidity. "Those Democrats," he said, "who hitherto have been slow to align themselves with the progressive banner of the party are everywhere yielding. The business men of the country, too, are swinging around to an unselfish and broader view of their duties to the people."

Guilty Upon Five Counts Is Senate's Verdict—First Vote Is Sixty-eight to Five—Insists That No Wrong Has Been Done by Him.

Washington, Jan. 14.—Robert W. Archbald of Scranton, Pa., for twenty-nine years an occupant of judicial positions upon the Pennsylvania state bench, the federal district bench and the United States commerce court, was adjudged guilty by the United States senate of "high crimes and misdemeanors," was stripped of his office and forever disqualified from holding positions of public honor or public trust.

The conviction and judgment came as the conclusion of the impeachment trial that has been pending in the senate since last summer on charges that Judge Archbald had been guilty of misconduct and misbehavior as a judge and that he had corruptly used his judicial power to further the private interests of himself and his friends in the acquisition of coal land properties in Pennsylvania.

Upon five of the thirteen charges brought against him by the house of representatives Judge Archbald was found guilty. Upon the other eight the senate voted him not guilty, the majority in some cases being against him, but failing of the two-thirds majority necessary for conviction. Any one of the five verdicts of guilty was enough to bring about the punishment imposed upon him.

The end of the long fought struggle in the senate came when the vote was taken on the first article of impeachment. With gallery doors locked to prevent the movement of spectators, an unaccustomed hush prevailed throughout the chamber. Senators rose in their places as their names were called and pronounced the word "guilty" in almost inaudible tones. The vote on the first charge that Judge Archbald had corruptly influenced officials of the Erie railroad to sell him the Katydid culm dump at Scranton, resulted in his conviction, by a vote of 68 to 5.

Still Denies Wrongdoing.

In a little committee room off the gallery floor, behind a guarded door, Judge Archbald, his wife and his son, Hugh, sat as the senate voted upon the charges against him. The first vote of conviction was carried to him by his son from the gallery. After sentence had been imposed upon him, Judge Archbald and his family left the capitol, to go at once to the family home at Scranton.

"I have always known that I have done no wrong, and the vote of no one makes it otherwise," was his only comment upon the senate's action.

Sentence was imposed by Senator Bacon of Georgia, the presiding officer, after the senate had, by a vote of 39 to 35, upheld a resolution offered by Senator O'Gorman of New York authorizing the full penalty provided by the constitution.

"The senate therefore does order and decree," said Senator Bacon, "and it is hereby adjudged that the respondent, Robert W. Archbald, circuit judge for the United States for the Third judicial circuit, and designated to serve in the commerce court, be and he is hereby removed from office, and that he be and is hereby forever disqualified to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust or profit under the United States."

The sentence of the senate becomes operative at once, and directions were given that the president and the house of representatives be notified of the verdict and the punishment imposed.

Of the ten men who have been impeached before the senate since the organization of the government, Judge Archbald is the third to be convicted and the only one convicted who appeared to make a personal defense against the charges brought by the house of representatives.

Move to Impeach Idaho Judges.

Boise, Ida., Jan. 14.—Progressive members of the state legislature at a conference discussed the advisability of introducing a resolution providing for impeachment proceedings against the Idaho supreme court justices. The discussion was an outgrowth of the punishment for contempt of court of R. S. Sheridan, C. O. Broxon and A. R. Cruzen, who published Colonel Roosevelt's criticism of one of the court's decisions. No conclusion was reached.

NOAH BEILHARZ IN LOCAL LYCEUM

Has Given 2,500 Entertainments in Eleven Years.

The young man with the German name, that nearly everybody mispronounces, has had more than 11 years' experience in the platform and has given over 2,500 entertainments in the United States and Canada. Such experience means much. He knows how, by experience, to please any audience, whether giving an entire play or a program of miscellaneaus selections. He uses wigs and make-up and is an artist of first rank.

Mr. Beilharz is especially adapted, temperamentally, to give the great David Warfield play, "The Music Master." No actor, though aided by scenery and other actors, displays more histrionic ability, and never has the story had a more fitting presentation than when given by Mr. Beilharz. It is to be hoped that he will give this play when he appears here, but he always presents the kind of a program the community prefers.

This season Mr. Beilharz will appear in nearly every state in the Union. He will tour as far west as Washington and Oregon, and as far east as Maine, as far south as Florida and as far north as Wisconsin.

THOUSANDS ARE HOMELESS

Churches Opened to Flood Refugees In Ohio and Kentucky.

Cincinnati, Jan. 13.—The Ohio river passed the sixty-foot stage here and continued to rise steadily at the rate of two inches an hour. In the lower parts of the city and in Dayton, Newport and Covington, suburbs across the river in Kentucky, 2,500 persons have been made homeless by the invading water. In the Kentucky towns, school houses and churches have been thrown open and are filled with refugees.

Cincinnati commission merchants whose places of business are along the river front have suffered heavy losses. The Panhandle and the Louisville and Nashville railroad freight houses are half submerged.

TRADE WITH SOUTH AMERICA

Remarkable Growth of the Business in Last Ten Years.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Exports from the United States to South America have grown from $38,000,000 in 1902 to approximately $138,000,000 in 1912. The percentage of gain in the exports to South America is much greater than that in exports to any other grand division of the world.

Turning to the other side of the account, the imports from South America show a gain in the period in question of a little more than 100 per cent, the figures having been in 1902 $109,000,000 and in 1912 approximately $239,000,000.

Manufactures form the bulk of this rapidly growing export trade with South America.

This Week in Congress.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Problems of the approaching Democratic administration will hang over congress again this week. Tariff, currency and anti-trust legislation, characterized by President elect Wilson as among the most important subjects that will come before him, are to be the center of hearings and investigations by house committees throughout the week and will divide attention with the Democratic-Republican fight in the senate over President Taft's appointments, over 1,300 of which are awaiting confirmation.

HOUSE HITS CIVIL SERVICE

Committee of Whole Favors Annuling Taft's Postmaster Order.

REPUBLICANS DECLINE TO VOTE

Fight Will Result When Amendment to Postoffice Bill Is Reported for Debate and Final Disposition—Clash Over Anti-Liquor Act.

Washington, Jan. 14.—An amendment to the postoffice appropriation bill to annul executive orders placing assistant postmasters in first class offices and all fourth class postmasters under the classified service was adopted by the house, sitting as a committee of the whole. The vote was 49 to 18, all Republicans refraining from voting and many Democrats absenting themselves from the chamber. Republican leaders had quietly cautioned the members on their side to let the Democrats settle the matter among themselves.

This amendment will be a storm center when the appropriation bill is reported to the house from the committee of the whole, probably today. Many Democrats oppose it, but Representatives Cullop of Indiana, who offered the amendment, and others denounce President Taft's executive ordres as partisan actions to perpetuate in office Republicans appointed under the "spoils system."

Another amendment offered in the committee occasioned a lively discussion. Representative Jackson of Kansas (Rep.) was the author and the amendment proposed to bar from the mail in "dry" territory letters, pamphlets, newspapers and periodicals carrying liquor advertisements, and to bar all such matter advertising for sale stocks or bonds of corporations unless passed upon by the postmaster general. The amendment was lost, 33 to 57, after a debate led by Representatives Jackson and Hobson supporting the measure, and Representative Moon of Tennessee, chairman of the committee, opposing it.

Free Lumber and Meats, With High Tariff on Silks.

Washington, Jan. 14.—Free rough and dressed lumber, hewn and squared timber, shingles, laths and fence posts, retention of approximately the present high tariff on the higher grades of silks and reductions in the cheaper silks used by the common people and a penalizing, drastic tariff bar to shut out "dynamited" silk, were indicated as parts of the expected Democratic revision program.

The house committee on ways and means devoted the day to hearings on the wool and silk schedules of the tariff law and when the testimony and examinations were closed the sentiment favored the inclusion of these provisions, possibly together with free meats, in the tentative tariff plan the committee will frame to submit to the extra session of congress.

The burden of the testimony on the wool schedule was a plea for the preservation of the present tariff rates.

Silk, involving immense interests, presented a complexity of technicalities perhaps greater than in any of the other thirteen schedules of the tariff law. Silks, according to Horace B. Cheney of South Manchester, Conn. as spokesman of the silk manufacturers of the country, depend on fashion. "If women want anything they'll pay the amount they have to get it."

Kills Wife and Self at Dinner Table

SHE GAVE UP ALL HOPE

Physicians Failed To Help Mrs. Green, But She Finally Found Relief in Cardui.

Meetze, Va.—Mrs. J. C. Green of this place, says: "I suffered with womanly troubles so that I could hardly sit up. Two of the best doctors in our town treated me, and I tried different medicines, until I gave up all hope of ever getting well.

One day, I decided to try some Cardui. It did so much for me that I ordered some more, and it cured me! Today, I feel as well as I ever did in my life.

The pains and the trouble are all gone. I feel like another person in every way. I wish every sufferer could know what Cardui will do for sick women."

A few doses of Cardui at the right time, will save many a big doctor bill, by preventing serious sickness.

It tones up the nervous system, and helps make pale cheeks fresh and rosy.

Thousands of weak women have been restored to health and happiness by using Cardui. Suppose you try it.

It may be just the medicine you need.
